2. Mr. [REDACTED] newly arrived [REDACTED] Station has requested [REDACTED] (his former post of duty) to charter an aircraft to move his household effects from [REDACTED] to [REDACTED] and, as a matter of convenience and economy, to ship on the return flight the household effects of Mrs. [REDACTED] who was recently transferred from [REDACTED] [REDACTED] have agreed to make this flight for $1100.

3. Normal shipment of above effects through usual surface methods involves clearance of personal effects through [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] customs which in some cases may take up to 4 months and thereby depriving employees the use of their effects for a longer than reasonable period. Since Mr. [REDACTED] requires his nominal shipment of household effects to be able to fulfill his representational requirements, it is believed that air shipment of his effects is justified as being advantageous to the Government.
